

Read Issue 107 online, TESA Members can click here to retrieve their access code.

NEWS

-

The StructureSafe on-site safety training course for marquee and temporary fabric structures crews has gained recognition by the Olympic organisers, MUTA has announced.

-

Structure specialist De Boer has agreed an informal partnership with Star Events Group and large format printing company XG Group, broadening the range of services and products on offer to customers.

-

Ambulance staff from across the country have joined forces in London to test their response to incidents ahead of the 2012 Games.

PROFILE

-

Dubbed CockRock by its fans, Cockermouth Rock festival has been gifted £2000 worth of accreditation by ID&C, a UK leading security wristband supplier, as winner of the company's Grass Roots Festival Competition.

LONDON GAMES

-

PKL Group, a leading supplier of temporary kitchens and commercial catering equipment, is calling for event operators and contract caterers to get their orders in for summer equipment as soon as possible, after new research which highlights the strain that this summer's events, including the London 2012 Olympics, could put on catering equipment for hire.

EVENT MEDICAL PROVISION

-

The Red Cross is gearing up for the London Olympics, which is going to pose an unprecedented challenge to the UK's emergency services and statutory responders.

SECURITY

- G4S Events, a leading independent event safety and security company, has been awarded a contract as the sole security provider at one of Scotland's largest music festivals, Rockness which takes place 8-10 June.

Event Organiser Magazine is the official journal of TESA (The Event Services Association), the UK body representing event organisers and suppliers to the industry. The magazine is published five times a year and distributed to key names in the trade.

