

Saville Audio Visual has been named Best Conference Production & AV Supplier at this year's Conference Awards, beating stiff competition from some of the industry's biggest names.

Designed to celebrate success and champion excellence, The Conference Awards ceremony was staged at The Brewery in London and hosted by TV comedian Jo Brand. With a sell-out audience, the event has established itself as one of the most significant annual events for the conference industry and raised a major sum for the Macmillan Cancer Charity.

Winners in twenty categories were selected by an independent judging panel, made up of Operations Directors and Managing Directors from some of the most successful Conference organising companies in the UK.

Receiving the trophy, Adam Pike, Head of Events for Saville Audio Visual said: "We are extremely pleased to receive this award which we feel acknowledges perfectly the passion and professionalism that the Saville technical teams from across our UK network deliver to every event we do."

"We are committed to providing our clients with the most innovative solutions by using the latest technologies available and by exceeding our proven client service levels. Awards like this confirm we are definitely on the right path."

According to Adam, the Saville entry aimed to demonstrate that the company is responsive to the changing landscape of the business, committed to staff training and adhering to environmental and quality procedures.

The judges commented: "Excellent entry with lots of illustrative detail effectively rationalising why they should win. Excellent examples of creativity and innovation. They have responded intelligently to market changes and customer needs by developing a series of in-house solutions. Impressive client base and retention. Excellent customer service feedback. All round service solution - a very worthy winner of this category."

With twelve UK offices and a client list that includes many of the UK's leading businesses and organisations, Saville has now won a total of twenty-eight national industry awards in less than fourteen years.